TEMPLE STREET IMPROVEMENT.
An Important Meeting of Interested Property-owners.

A meeting of property-owners interested in the proposed regrading of Temple street was held in the office of the City Engineer yesterday morning. It will be remembered that a number of them claim that the damages awarded by the courts are excessive, and that to collect them would work a hardship on the owners of property, and that therefore they wish to protest against the City Council passing any resolution or ordinance allowing such damages to be collected. Some of those in favor of the proposed work claim that the time for protests has expired.

After discussing the matter yesterday morning, a card, to be presented to property-owners, was decided upon. The card states that there are within the proposed work a number of assessable frontages, and that the amount of damages awarded is $115,574.38. The total cost of doing the work and paying the damages is $125,000. The figures will not be more than $120,574.38, which amount will make the average cost less than 85 cents per front foot.

It is further stated that the assessment will be made according to property value, and that it is wished to deny reports which have been circulated to the effect that the proposed improvement will cost from $10 to $20 per front foot. The commission to make the assessment is composed of the Mayor, the City Engineer and the Street Superintendent, who are to serve without pay, thus doing away with a considerable expense.

HARRY MAYNARD, the used-up pugilist, has joined the Salvation Army. He gives to the Lord the rag-end of a very poor life.

The colored people of Virginia are trying to raise money to erect a monument to Gen. Grant to stand beside that of Lee at Richmond.

Rev. E. D. McChesney preached in Santa Cruz the other day on "Three Roads to Hell from Santa Cruz." That town can at least boast of the advantage of competing lies.

The telegraph fails to inform us whether Gov. Penneyer of Oregon has received any assurances from the Department of State that the President will attend to his business.

The opinion generally prevails in the East that the Supreme Court will declare the Gery law unconstitutional. Such a decision would at least help the administration out of a pretty middle.

A Philadelphia clergyman refuses to pray to the Almighty to avert a visitation of cholera until the people will go to work and clean the city up. He is perfectly right. God helps who help themselves.

GEN. SICKLES has begun anew his agitation to have the Federal Government purchase the battlefield of Gettysburg for a national park, and is receiving a strong support from some of the most influential papers of the country.

The Ohio State Journal holds a banner with this strange device to its masthead: "For President on the Democratic ticket in '96—Sylvester Penneyer of Salem, Or. Platform—'I'll attend to my business, let the President attend to his.'"

The health of Miss Frances Willard, the apostle of temperance, is said to be entirely broken. She is now in England, but will go to Switzerland for the summer, with the hope of recuperating, and does not expect to return to America until next fall.

YESTERDAY was a great day for Santa Monica, and the citizens and visitors within their gates celebrated with proper eclat the arrival of the first steamship at the new wharf. Port Los Angeles, as the new anchorage has been called, is destined to cut an important figure hereafter in the maritime commerce of the Pacific Coast.

The managers of the World's Fair have an iron-clad rule against smoking anywhere within Jackson Park, and it is creating a great deal of trouble. Some men who spend all day on the grounds are wild if deprived of their accustomed cigar, and in the interests of peace and perhaps for the preservation of life, it is suggested that a reservation will have to be set off for the smokers. A building might be devoted to this purpose with a tall smoke stack, like that of a factory, to carry the fumes of tobacco to the upper air and thus not offend the olfactory nerves of the thousands of visitors who cannot abide it. The management has shown itself singularly lacking in adroitness in not providing for the smokers in advance.

The Chicago girls who have been engaged to officiate in the Turkish-willage at the fair as dispensers of oriental refreshments are about to raise a mutiny. They have been asked to harmonize themselves with their surroundings by donning baggy red trousers, and somehow they cannot be made to do it. How ridiculous it is for them to hold out on such a point of punctilio. Women have been affecting man's attire in their fashions for years in everything except the trousers. We have had the zouave costume, the sailor costume, the standing collar, the imitation shirt-fronts, the jacket and vest, the moby hat and all that sort of thing. What's the use of sticking over baggy, red, unmentionables? Fle, girls! We're out of all patience with you!

Three important decisions in the Pacific Railway cases (the cable road) were filed yesterday by Judges Van Dyke and Wade. Without entering into the intricacies involved, it is sufficient to say the court finds that the scheme to organize a foreign corporation to absorb the property and plant of the Los Angeles Cable Railway Company was illegal and void, and that all transactions of the succeeding company were a nullity. The Los Angeles Cable Railway Company, therefore, is still in existence, and the Pacific Railway Company is not. In the course of its very elaborate and learned opinion the court says: "The nature of the pending actions has already been stated and explained. Neither of them involves any question of fraud or conscience, or of good or bad intention on the part of the defendants [the Pacific Railway Company]. In these actions they stand upon the same footing as would an entire stranger to the illegal transactions complained of."

that exports to New York by sea were over three hundred thousand gallons more than during the corresponding three months of 1892, and the exports by rail exceeded those of last year by more than five hundred thousand gallons. The shipments by rail are considered especially gratifying, as they represent actual sales and are not to be considered in the same light as the sea shipments, which, in many cases, are merely the shipments of owners who desire to change their storage from San Francisco to New York. In the face of this increase of shipments, however, the Review says: "While exports have been of good volume for the season, prices continue eminently unsatisfactory, with little prospect of change until the coming vintage can be estimated, providing the existing conditions in the trade and between the trade and producers continue." It is suggested that the wine men may accomplish something in the way of securing better prices by forming a cooperative association, such as the fruit men are organizing.

A Rallying Call.
Without doubt Gov. McKinley of Ohio is today the foremost man in the Republican party. The mantle of Blaine has fallen upon his shoulders, and he is looked upon by Republicans in all sections of the Union as the natural leader. He rises superior to the apparent defeat at the ballot-box of the policy which he sustained and which took his name; he rises superior to his personal misfortunes, which would have forced many a man from public life. He is stronger before the country than ever before, and the man whom the Republican party will undoubtedly select for the head of its next national ticket.

McKinley's greatest element of strength lies in his consistency. He believes that the policy of protection and reciprocity is the one which points to national prosperity and the best interests of all the people, and he stands as staunchly for the support of these ideas when they are under a cloud as he did when they were in the full sunshine of prosperity. He has nothing to take back, nothing to modify, nothing to apologize for. His attitude is so manly, courageous and inspiring that it cannot fail to command the respect even of his adversaries, and it makes him more than ever before the rallying point for all who believe that he is right.

Gov. McKinley delivered a brief address at the Home Market Club's banquet in Boston last week, which is a rallying call to true Republicans all over the country, and which will inspire the party with new confidence. He reiterated his opinion expressed directly after the election, that no party can honestly modify its policy simply because that policy fails of popular success; that the Republican party believes in the justice of its cause as much now as ever. He declared that an appeal would be taken from the hasty judgment rendered last November to the sober second thought of the American people; to that tribunal which is always open and whose right of reversal is supreme.

How little reason the friends of protection have for despondency was demonstrated with tremendous effect by Gov. McKinley's reference to the history of the years since the Republican party came into existence. It has been more than once defeated, but each failure has been quickly followed by glorious success. It has carried seven out of ten Presidential elections held in the past thirty-six years. Each defeat since the first victory was won has followed the adoption of some public measure which the people had not time fully to understand and whose workings were but imperfectly tested. On every occasion, when the people came to understand the facts, they made haste to rectify their mistake and restore the Republican party to power. Gov. McKinley showed his practical patriotism when he declared that he could not agree with those who express a hope that the Democratic party, having now control of the Government in both the executive and legislative branches, will go on to do all the mischief that it has promised in its platform to accomplish; namely, the degradation of labor, the practical confiscation of property and the ruin of the national currency.

Gov. McKinley called attention to the grand opportunity that will be presented next fall, before the time for Congress to meet in regular session, to secure a victory in the three important States of New York, Massachusetts and Ohio. He believes that if those States pronounce against British free trade and wildcat money, the Democrats in Congress will not dare invite overwhelming defeat by carrying out the most harmful demands of the Chicago platform. But whether the Democratic party carries out its "smashing" programme or whether it halts and vacillates, its position will be equally weak before the country, and there is no alternative ahead for it but defeat.

NOT GUILTY.

Miles Acquitted of the Charge of Murder.

But a Short Time Required to Arrive at a Verdict.

The Jury Out but Little More Than Half an Hour.

Closing Argument of Counsel—A Strong Plea by Mr. Shinn for the Acquittal of His Client—Mr. Dupuy's Remarks.

After but a few moments consultation, the jury in the Miles murder trial returned a verdict last evening of not guilty. To all who have watched the progress of the trial and heard the testimony, the result was far from a surprise, as in view of the evidence offered, it would have been difficult to conceive that a contrary verdict could be rendered by any one endowed with reasonable intelligence. The case now is probably ended for all time, so far as Miles is concerned, and will only exist as a precedent. To be sure, the formidable bill which will be brought against the county for the expenses of the trial may serve as a striking reminder of the affair, and some inquisitive persons may take occasion to ask "Why this burdensome expense?" and others may search diligently for "that additional and new" evidence upon which the grand jury indictment was secured against Miles, after he had been discharged at the end of a thorough preliminary examination, from the fact that has since been demonstrated to still exist unshaken to hold. These may be hard questions to solve, and the District Attorney's office may come in for severe criticism on that score, but there it will end.

When the case began yesterday morning Attorney Shinn again took the floor to close his argument, of which the following is a synopsis:

"May it please the Court, gentlemen of the jury," he began, "I want you to go with me now on a tour of the Carleton saloon on the night of May 16, 1891, at 12 o'clock of the murder of Miller. Officer Maguire was left in charge of the place. He was where Dr. Hanson was when we dragged him on the stand. Ah, there are others behind the prosecution. It is the fellows out of sight that I am talking about. Very frequently crime is discovered by the guilty man's trying to put it on an innocent person. Who washed up the blood? Who knows but that this very hammer was put there by the janitor? I don't like the looks of things and I will call them by their proper names. It may be all right, and I hope it is. I am not charging anything upon anyone. That hammer was found Sunday by Johnson and Bowler. Auble said it was there in the room, and so it was. Johnson finds the hammer and looks at it with a glass. What does he do with it? He chucks it back into the hole. I want the Prosecuting Attorney to answer me this question. What did Johnson throw the hammer back and leave it there for? I tell you it looks as if they were getting ready to 'job' someone. That hammer stayed there until Chief Glass had a little 'blowout.' He gets Col. Polk and others, and with a great flourish of trumpets finds the hammer. Why had the hammer been left there, and why did they go as they did to find it? They went there to discover something, and the hammer was found. I wonder why Chief Glass did not testify regarding those keys at the preliminary examination? I say I don't like the looks of things. Didn't a number of persons, including the 'tin-horn' detectives, who lie around the corners waiting for something to turn up that will benefit them, gain admittance to the saloon after it had been closed up? Was the murderer himself sneaking around there? There is some wonderful attraction that brings the culprit back to the scene of his crime, and he is frequently arrested not twenty feet away from the spot. It was funny about these keys, wasn't it? I want the District Attorney to tell you who those keys belonged to. They were not Miles's keys, for he gave all he had to the police that night. They look like burglars' keys, and they might have belonged to some detective. I'd give a dollar, poor as I am, to know. Who are they, and how did they happen to be in the saloon with blood on them, or something like blood? I tell you, in my judgment, these keys were put there while the saloon was in charge of someone unknown to you, and that they were put there to take the suspicion off from the guilty person.

"You may say it was a case of robbery and you may say it wasn't. I don't know and Miles doesn't know. He has sense enough to know that it would be better for him to tell if he did know. Was it robbery or was it revenge? I wonder if the insurance receipts had anything to do with it? Miller, as you know, was quite a wealthy man. He received $500 a month rent from his Eastern property, and his insurance had just been renewed.

"Mr. Gibson said that he would stand or fall on the expert testimony. I tell him now that he will fail, and that the prosecution will find that evidence very slippery. It is very easy to be mistaken. I don't believe that more than one lawyer out of every three understands fully what circumstantial evidence is. I have been studying for thirteen years and I have changed my opinion on many points. How often is it that we have had piled by district attorneys one circumstance upon another, until there is a heap level with the man's door, and it is announced that he is then traced to his lair, and the district attorney exclaims, 'Look what a beautiful structure I have built,' but it is as false as fiction. I say the finding of blood on those keys is a strong circumstance tending to prove that Miles did not murder Miller.

"What is the history of that hammer? To whom did it belong? Blood is a wonderful thing, and it is a wonderful thing that they take up a hammer that might have come from a butcher's shop or other place to swear away a man's life with. They have got to say that it was Miles's blood upon it, and they never did and they never will. God Almighty has not yet seen fit to make it known how you can tell human from animal blood. You cannot take into consideration a circumstance unless it is founded upon a fact. Before you can suspect Miles you have got to prove that the stains were blood at all, that it is human blood and that it is the blood of Miles.

At 2 o'clock Judge Dupuy made the final plea on the part of the prosecution. He carefully went over all of the connecting facts and circumstances and delivered a characteristic speech full of sound sense, logical reasoning and convincing conclusions. The spectators crowded closely around and listened eagerly to the speech, which lasted until 4 o'clock.

It was about twenty minutes past that time when the jury received their instructions and retired. The verdict was agreed upon in less than half an hour, and at exactly 4:53 the twelve men filed back into the courtroom. Judge Smith mounted the bench, and a breathless stillness fell upon the crowded audience of laymen and lawyers. The defendant took his seat in a quiet manner and hurriedly placed his hand behind his ear to catch the words of Foreman Luke, who arose and read in a deliberate voice: "We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty."

As the verdict was announced a yell of applause went up which was quickly silenced by the Court, who declared that he would have no demonstration of that sort.

The jury was then dismissed, and, as they passed, Miles stood at the gate and shook each warmly by the hand. He then turned with his counsel and received the congratulations of his friends.

THE JUSTICES' COURTS.

Held for Grand Larceny—Petty Larceny Discharged.

In Justice Austin's court yesterday Charles Bell, charged with grand larceny, was held to appear before the Superior Court. Joseph B. Height and Walter Bell, both charged with petty larceny, were discharged, and S. A. D. Clark was fined $5 for violating the stock ordinance. The examination of M. Briedenbach, charged with disturbing the peace, was set for May 16.

In Justice Seaman's court, Joseph Hughes, charged with petty larceny, was discharged.

On a search warrant yesterday several small articles taken from M. Isaac's store were found at No. 280 W. First street, where a Mrs. West was staying. The articles were brought into court, and it was found that they had been taken by Mrs. West's son. The boy was evidently of such an age as to not yet to be aware of the serious nature of his offense, and he was let off with a nominal fine. The articles were returned to their owner.

RAILROAD AFFAIRS.

Southern Pacific's New Wharf Dedicated Yesterday.

The Steamer San Mateo With 250 Carloads of Coal.

Foot Passengers Accommodated at Port Los Angeles.

The San Diego and Phoenix Road—Lighter Eastbound Travel—General Local and Personal Mention—Notes.

The steamer San Mateo, the largest vessel engaged in business on the coast, arrived at the Southern Pacific Company's long wharf, Port Los Angeles, yesterday morning, to the joy of those Santa Monica citizens who had been anxiously watching for her since daylight the day before. Before the steamer arrived at the wharf the people were there in force, loaded with great masses of flowers, which were showered upon the vessel's decks and hung upon her rigging, until the big collier presented a most unusual gala appearance. School children clad in white bore armloads of bright flowers, scattering them everywhere, while a general feeling of hilarity was manifested by the crowd. The crew of the San Mateo were at first at a loss to understand the demonstration, but soon joined the fun with their own cheers. Speech-makers were present with welcoming addresses to deliver, but the lack of order prevented this part of the programme being carried out. When the crowd had returned to town work was at once begun to get ready for unloading the 5000 tons of coal which the vessel had brought from Vancouver, B. C. The work of discharging the cargo will require several days' time, as the coal will be loaded into gondola cars and not into chutes, which are not yet completed. The cargo will fill nearly two hundred and fifty cars.

PROMENADES ON THE WHARF.

A platform promenade is being built along the south side of the approach to the new wharf at Port Los Angeles, to be free to pedestrians, who will be protected from the cars on one side and the ocean on the other by substantial railings. Wooden bench seats are being placed at short intervals along this sidewalk, which is suspended over the water on substantial braces, and here visitors may sit, or promenade, or fish, as they please. This accommodation for the people was an afterthought of the company, not contemplated in the original plans at all. Visitors will be able to go far into the ocean without danger from the cars, which are almost constantly moving when the wharf is ready for its commercial use.

STOCK FOR THE SAN DIEGO ROAD.

The San Diego Union has this "The San Diego and Phoenix Railroad Company is having printed the certificates of a special issue of $1,000,000 of treasury stock, in denominations of $1 per share, the proceeds to be expended for labor and material only. The stock as issued will be fully paid up, unassessable, preferred and dividend-paying, according to the agreement printed on each certificate, which provides: That the stock is to be sold at not less than $1 per share in cash or its equivalent in labor or material, and to be protected by $1,000,000 of the twenty-year 6 per cent. bonds of the company, set aside from May 6, 1893, for the purpose. At the expiration of this time, holders of this stock will have the option to exchange stock at a dollar for dollar. Six per cent. dividend per annum is guaranteed on the stock for five years."

FAST TIME ON THE NEW YORK CENTRAL.

BUFFALO (N. Y.) May 11.—[By the Associated Press.] The great Empire State express train's engine 999 has broken her record of 102 miles an hour, which she made last Tuesday. The test was made between the Rochester depot and Buffalo yesterday. After Batavia was reached Engineer Hogan let her out and the engine hauling the great Empire State express train was going at the rate of a mile in 35 seconds at Crittenden. Beyond Crittenden the world's record of a mile in 32 seconds was made. This is equivalent to 112 1/2 miles an hour. This tremendous speed was kept up until Forks Station was reached. The passengers say the train ran smoothly, but that the telegraph poles looked like the pickets in a fence. There was no unusual swavings or jolting.

WORK ON THE FRESNO AND MONTEREY.

FRESNO, May 11.—[By the Associated Press.] The contract for the first ten miles of the Fresno and Monterey Railroad was signed today, and construction will begin at once at the Monterey end. A Board of Trade and business men's meeting tonight passed a resolution supporting the enterprise and also guaranteeing support to the proposed line from Stockton to Bakersfield proposed by the traffic association.

SCRAP HEAP.

Orders have gone out to Missouri Pacific officials to cut down expenses to the lowest possible point.

East-bound passenger business out of Los Angeles is already decreasing. The spur last week and week before could not last.

In the territory of the Western Passenger Association clergyman cannot obtain tickets at one-half the reduced World's Fair rates.

A roundhouse of four stalls is being built at the terra firma end of the Southern Pacific Company's new wharf at Port Los Angeles.

At the request of the Southern Pacific Railway the Western Passenger Association at Chicago has decided to place on sale round-the-world tickets at $800.

A trainload of broken granite from near Colton is hauled daily to Port Los Angeles, and is there used to rip-rap the shore and pile work of the approach to the wharf.

Tomorrow at 1:45 p.m. members of the Chamber of Commerce will go to Santa Monica as guests of Assistant General Freight Agent Crawley to visit the big wharf and big boat, and on Sunday everybody will go on their own invitation.

Thomas J. E. Dunk has been appointed superintendent of the Santa Fe fruit and refrigerator line, with headquarters in Sacramento. He will have charge of cars and refrigeration on the line of the Southern Pacific in California north of Mojave. He succeeds Robert Graham, resigned.

It is definitely known now that Fred A. Healy, chief clerk of the Southern California Railroad auditor's office, is to be appointed to a responsible position on the Santa Fe, Prescott and Phoenix road, which was referred to in The Times a number of days ago. He is to be the general freight and passenger agent, auditor and cashier of the road, with office in Phoenix.

The relative advantage of large and small freight cars is being generally discussed by operating officials. The consensus of opinion is that the American 60,000 pound capacity cars are the best in the world for bulky through freight. For local traffic, however, their freight is a changing opinion in favor of smaller cars. The reason for this is that the larger cars are seldom loaded to their capacity with package or local freight owing to the difficulty of sorting the freight and unloading at local stations.

PIRATES' HOODOO.

Hard Luck Still Staying With Finn's Men.

Another Game Dropped by Stockton to the Angels.

Put Up a Good Game and Out-batted the Locals.

But Could Not Make Their Runs Count—Six Runs Made by Los Angeles in One Inning—The Score.

RESIDENT YOUNG of the National League has been heard from. He has decided that as long as there is not a base-runner on first the pitcher is allowed to take one foot from the ground in delivering the ball to either second or third without being charged with a balk. This places an entirely different construction on the matter, and yesterday Capt. Sweeney and Glenavlin decided to play according to these new rules, as now amended. Now that the highest baseball authority in the land has rendered his decision there will probably be no more "showing the rag" about the "new rules" at the beginning of every game.

Stockton certainly played in hard luck yesterday. They outbatted the Angels in point of hits, but they couldn't make them count. With the exception of the fifth inning Fanning pitched an excellent game, was fairly well supported, while Roach's game was too Borchers-like, on the whole, to be effective. Good fielding and a batting streak are accountable for the Angels' victory yesterday.

McVicker, who spiked himself during Wednesday's game, was more seriously hurt than was at first supposed. He has been sent North, and his absence from the field also helped to weaken Finn's team. Sheehan, who was substituted, played such a slow game in right that he was "let out" at the end of the fifth inning and replaced by Harper. Finn is looking for another man, and if there are any crack ball players lying around loose in this neighborhood a chance is open to get into the business and work up with Finn from the bottom. No charge is made for this announcement.

The term "Pirates," when applied to Mr. Finn's aggregation, is evidently not only a misnomer, but a "hoodoo." Does anybody know what they've ever stolen or whom they've ever murdered, to deserve such distinction? Finn's young men are decidedly a set of gentlemen, and requiring them to be known by such a dime-novel epithet is no doubt what "feazes" them.

Of the game in particular, Stockton started the run-getting, Sweeney hit for two bases, and next and scored on Whitehead's double. The latter gentleman died on third on Sheehan's strike-out.

The Angels opened their batting eyes just a little bit in the second inning. After Hutchins had "frowned" out, Lytle was sent to first on bats and to second on Fanning's balk. Lohman's three-bagger brought Lytle home, and Hughes' two-bagger did the same for Lohman. In the Stockton's half Roach sent two men to base on balls, both of whom, however, were prevented from scoring by Lytle's fine running catch of Mannasau's fly to left field.

Both nines then "winked the other eye" until the last half of the fourth, when Stockton took the lead for a short while by scoring two runs in the fifth, however, the Angels took the entire conceit out of their opponents. They discovered Mr. Fanning's weak spot, as they had his cotemporary's the day before, and "all sorts and conditions" of hits were made off his delivery. The "Texas league" vied with the home team and the two-baggers came in between.

All in all, the Angels took six hits from Mr. Fanning at that critical stage of the game, which, with the aid of steal and a passed ball, were stretched into a half-dozen runs. The gentlemen whose names will thus appear on the book of reckoning credited with having successfully accomplished their aims are: Fanning, Lytle and Lohman. It was somewhere about this time when Sheehan incurred Manager Finn's displeasure, and at the end of the inning walking papers were presented to the aspiring youngster.

Stockton managed to save another one in the sixth inning, but outside of that no more runs were made in the game. In the eighth things looked a little "corky" for the Angels, but they managed to put themselves together and knock out Finn's last hopes.

In technical language the score is as follows:

Friday is ladies' day.

"Pip" Lytle has been doing some excellent fielding lately.

Glenavlin took a day off yesterday, but the team managed to play out a victory, nevertheless.

Nicol's home run yesterday was not entirely the result of his stick work.

A little quicker fielding would have cut him off at third.

Lohman's throwing to second yesterday was superb.

An exchange says: "The California League today is furnishing better ball than it has been giving for several years, and the composition of the clubs is far superior to that of any minor league in the country." Very true, especially of this part of the country, just now.

The San Francisco Evening Post of May 9 publishes an interview with Manager Finn on the reported removal of his team to Sacramento. Finn denies the soft impeachment, but says he has received offers to go back to San Jose. From all of which it is probable there is something in the rumors regarding the team's proposed abandonment of Stockton.

Col. Tom Robinson has been talking through his hat to an Examiner reporter. He stayed in Oakland, and allowed his men to get from under his personal supervision. He ascribes this to the main reason for the defeat of four out of five games. Umpire McDonald, he says, is afraid of a Los Angeles audience, and was particularly hard on the Oaklanders during the recent series here. The Colonel gets off a whole lot more twaddle, but then, he always was a "kicker." And all this after Glenavlin, instead of claiming a forfeited game, as he had a perfect right to, allowed the Oakland team to play it off last Sunday afternoon, the only game the team won during the entire series. Does the Colonel want the earth?

THE COLONELS WON.

Light Batting and Numerous Errors Were the Features.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—[By the Associated Press.] The home team was defeated by Oakland today by a score of 7 to 3. The batting was light on both sides, and San Francisco played a very poor game in the field. Josh Reilly played third base for the locals, and Carroll did the catching in place of Spies, who is on the sick-list. Balaz and Griffiths did the pitching. Base hits: San Francisco, 7; Oakland, 5. Errors: San Francisco, 8; Oakland, 7.

CONSPIRATORS TO ORDER.

New York Furnishes the Patriots for Many a Revolution.

"Do you know," said Counselor Keane of Centre street to a New York Journal reporter, "the work of conspirators in New York where conspirators are furnished to order."

The reporter acknowledged that such an industry was new to him. The counsel said he could give no more than the tip, as his business was semi-judicial, and a passed ball, which was stretched into a half-dozen runs. The gentlemen whose names will thus appear on the book of reckoning credited with having successfully accomplished their aims are: Fanning, Lytle and Lohman. It was somewhere about this time when Sheehan incurred Manager Finn's displeasure, and at the end of the inning walking papers were presented to the aspiring youngster.

Stockton managed to save another one in the sixth inning, but outside of that no more runs were made in the game. In the eighth things looked a little "corky" for the Angels, but they managed to put themselves together and knock out Finn's last hopes.

In technical language the score is as follows:

THE COURTS.

The Trial of the Carlisle Assault Case.

The Defendant Discharged on Instructions of the Judge.

The Prosecution Failed to Make Out a Case.

The Story of the Complaining Witness as Told on the Stand—A Decree in the Eddy Divorce Suit—General Court Notes.

The case against S. A. Carlisle, who is charged with making an assault upon the person of Mrs. M. E. Roberts on the evening of the 24th of February last, came up for trial in Department Two yesterday before Judge Clark and a jury composed of George H. Buckingham, C. B. Crist, William Clark, W. T. Cutting, F. N. Drake, J. Davidson, George Englehardt, H. C. Hereni, P. J. McMahon, F. W. Partridge, J. B. Summers and Hugh Smith.

J. Marion Brooks and Henry T. Gage, Esqs., appeared for the defendant and C. C. Stephens, Esq., and Deputy District Attorney Ryan represented the prosecution.

It will be remembered that, on the night mentioned, when the alleged assault occurred, Mrs. Roberts, accompanied by her two young nieces, were walking along Figueroa street. They heard men's voices raised to quite a high pitch ahead, and turned around to go back. They did not get far before a buggy overtook them and a man got out and came toward the sidewalk. The rest of the story, as told by Mrs. Roberts herself when placed upon the stand yesterday, was that the man continued to advance toward where she and her nieces were and began talking to them. He finally said: "Why, this is Mrs. Roberts." The lady refused to acknowledge that such was her name, and asked the fellow who he was. The man replied: "I am Mr. Kelly." At the same time advancing close and endeavoring to draw Mrs. Roberts to him. Though greatly frightened, the lady managed to say: "You look like a gentleman, and if you are I hope you will go back to your buggy and cease to insult me." Kelly paid no heed to this, but renewed his offensive actions. When, to gain time, Mrs. Roberts asked him who was in the buggy he said: "Oh, that's a friend of yours."

"If he is a friend of mine, I think he would not allow you to insult me so," she retorted. Whereupon the manistated: "None of that, now. I am one of the boys." He then reached for his pistol and fired it off close to the group. The man in the buggy (Carlisle) got out also and came toward Mrs. Roberts with his arms outstretched. One of the nieces finally ran to a near-by house and called for assistance and the men drove away.

Kelly could not afterwards be found, but Carlisle was arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. It is undoubted that the men were intoxicated at the time.

At the conclusion of the testimony the Court instructed the jury, to bring in a verdict of acquittal, saying that in his opinion the evidence did not sustain the charge. All of the jurymen were evidently not of the same opinion, however, for they went out shortly before 4 o'clock, and it was after 8 o'clock before they returned into court with a verdict of acquittal in accordance with the judge's instructions.

Court Notes.

Judge Clark yesterday granted Mrs. A. M. Eddy a decree divorcing her from her husband, Dr. T. M. Eddy, on grounds of cruelty.

The case of Anderson vs. Herold, a suit to obtain an injunction restraining the defendant from piling excavated earth in the street in front of a building in course of construction at San Pedro, was on trial yesterday in Department Three.

Motion for continuance in the cause against C. B. Whomes for forgery was yesterday denied by Judge McKinley, and the work of impugning a jury to try the case begun.

John E. Fichter has commenced suit for divorce against Kate P. Fichter on the usual statutory grounds.

P. Pomeroy was awarded judgment yesterday against J. D. Coyne et al. for $500 on foreclosure of mortgage.

The law and motion calendar in Department Four will be continued for one week.
